Polosys Mobile Order App for Android

Polosys Android is a mobile remote order management system for the mobile field sales representative. With Polosys Mobile Order application, the sales rep can meet customers at their premises, no matter how remote, working off an extensive list of items with customised pricing. Order fulfilment is made easy with our Windows and Android order taking app.

An order taken can be confirmed with a printed record on the spot, before being transmitted back to the office to be picked, packed, delivered and invoiced.

Your Problem

Sales made using manual forms have to be entered into the computer at a later stage, which is labour intensive & error-prone.

Sales staff spending time doing manual paperwork when they could be out making sales.

Sales based on manual price books may use out-dated prices and are subject to errors

Other computer systems require the sales rep to have a continuous connection or they cannot function.

Our Solution

Captures the order detail at the earliest point and transmits it back to the office eliminating time-consuming data entry.

Transmits order back to the office, allowing staff to focus on making sales and serving customers better

Ensures that the latest prices are transmitted to the sales rep, avoiding pricing errors.

Designed for self-contained operation, and automatically connects when needed to send in orders.
